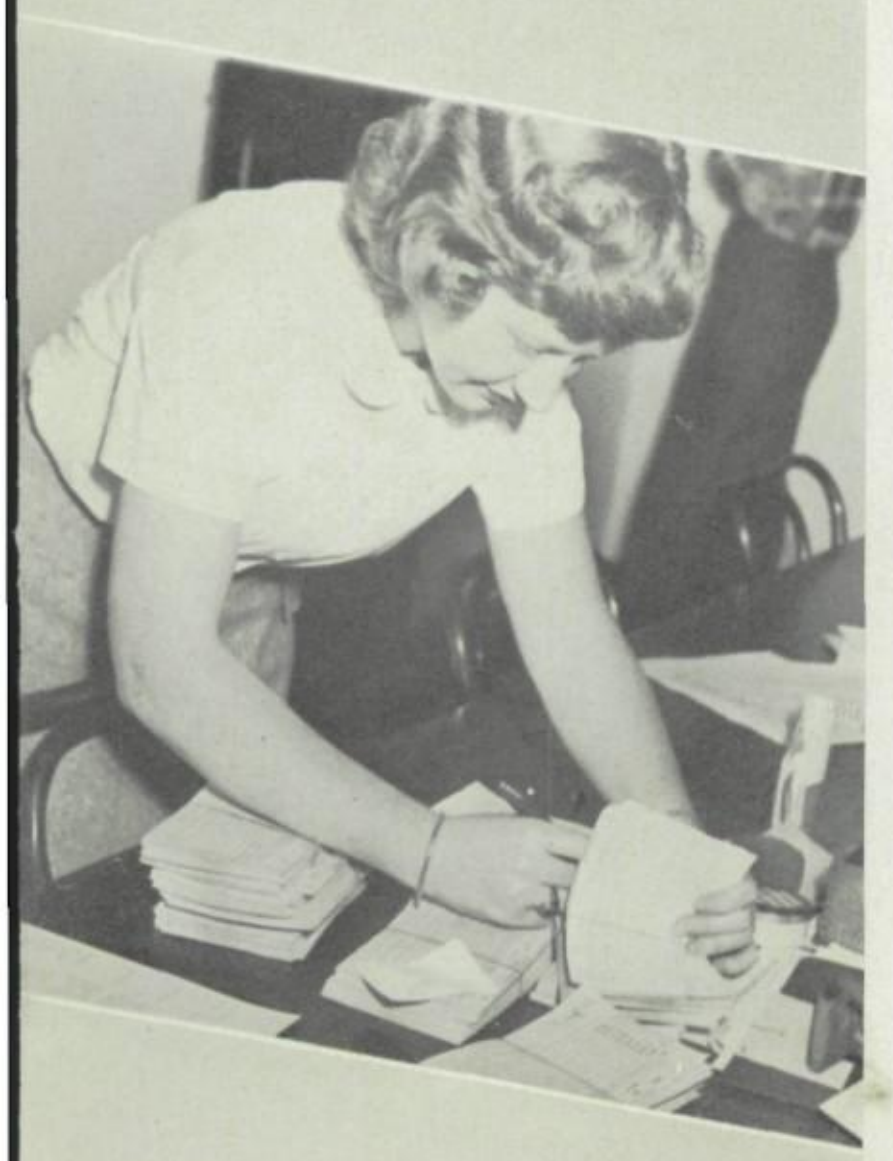
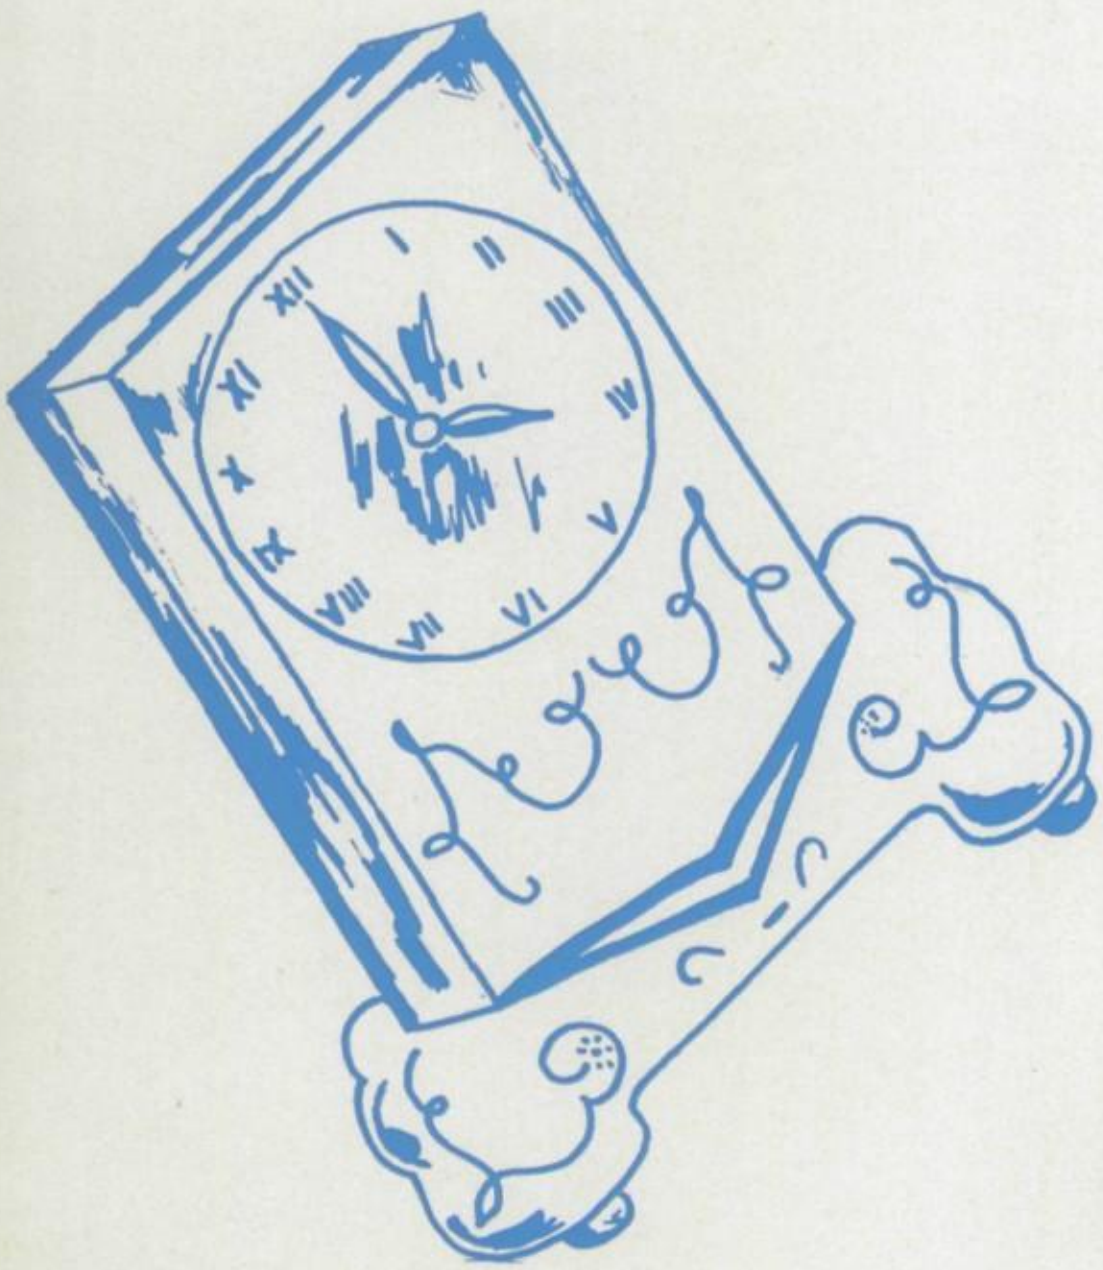
Let's Turn Back THE CLOCK

ON THE SCHOOL YEAR



- Don't drop any on the floor.
- Free raisins for Simon.
- Clang, clang, clang!
- Congenial companions.
- Noontime conflab.
- A last minute change.

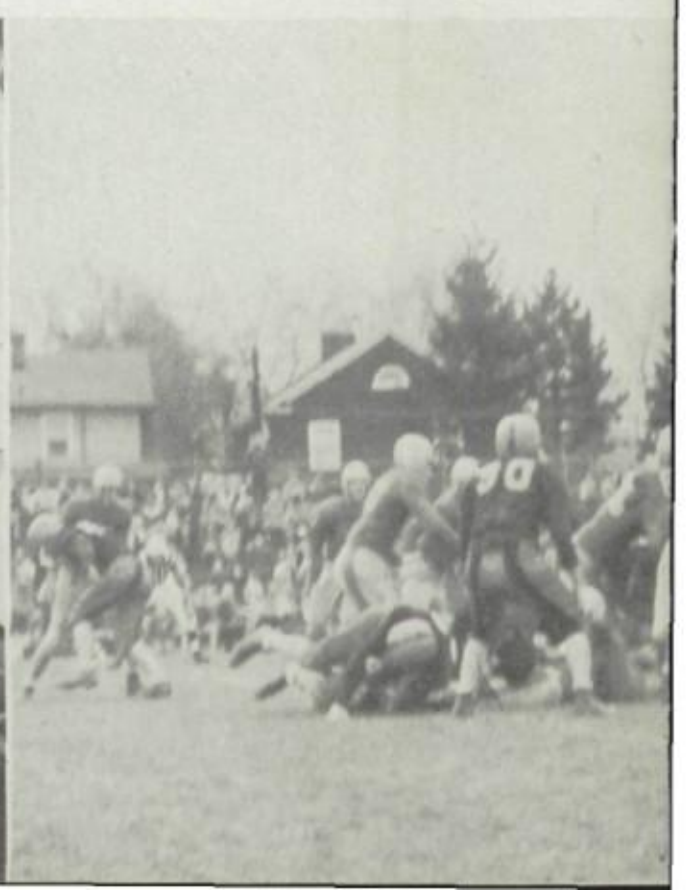


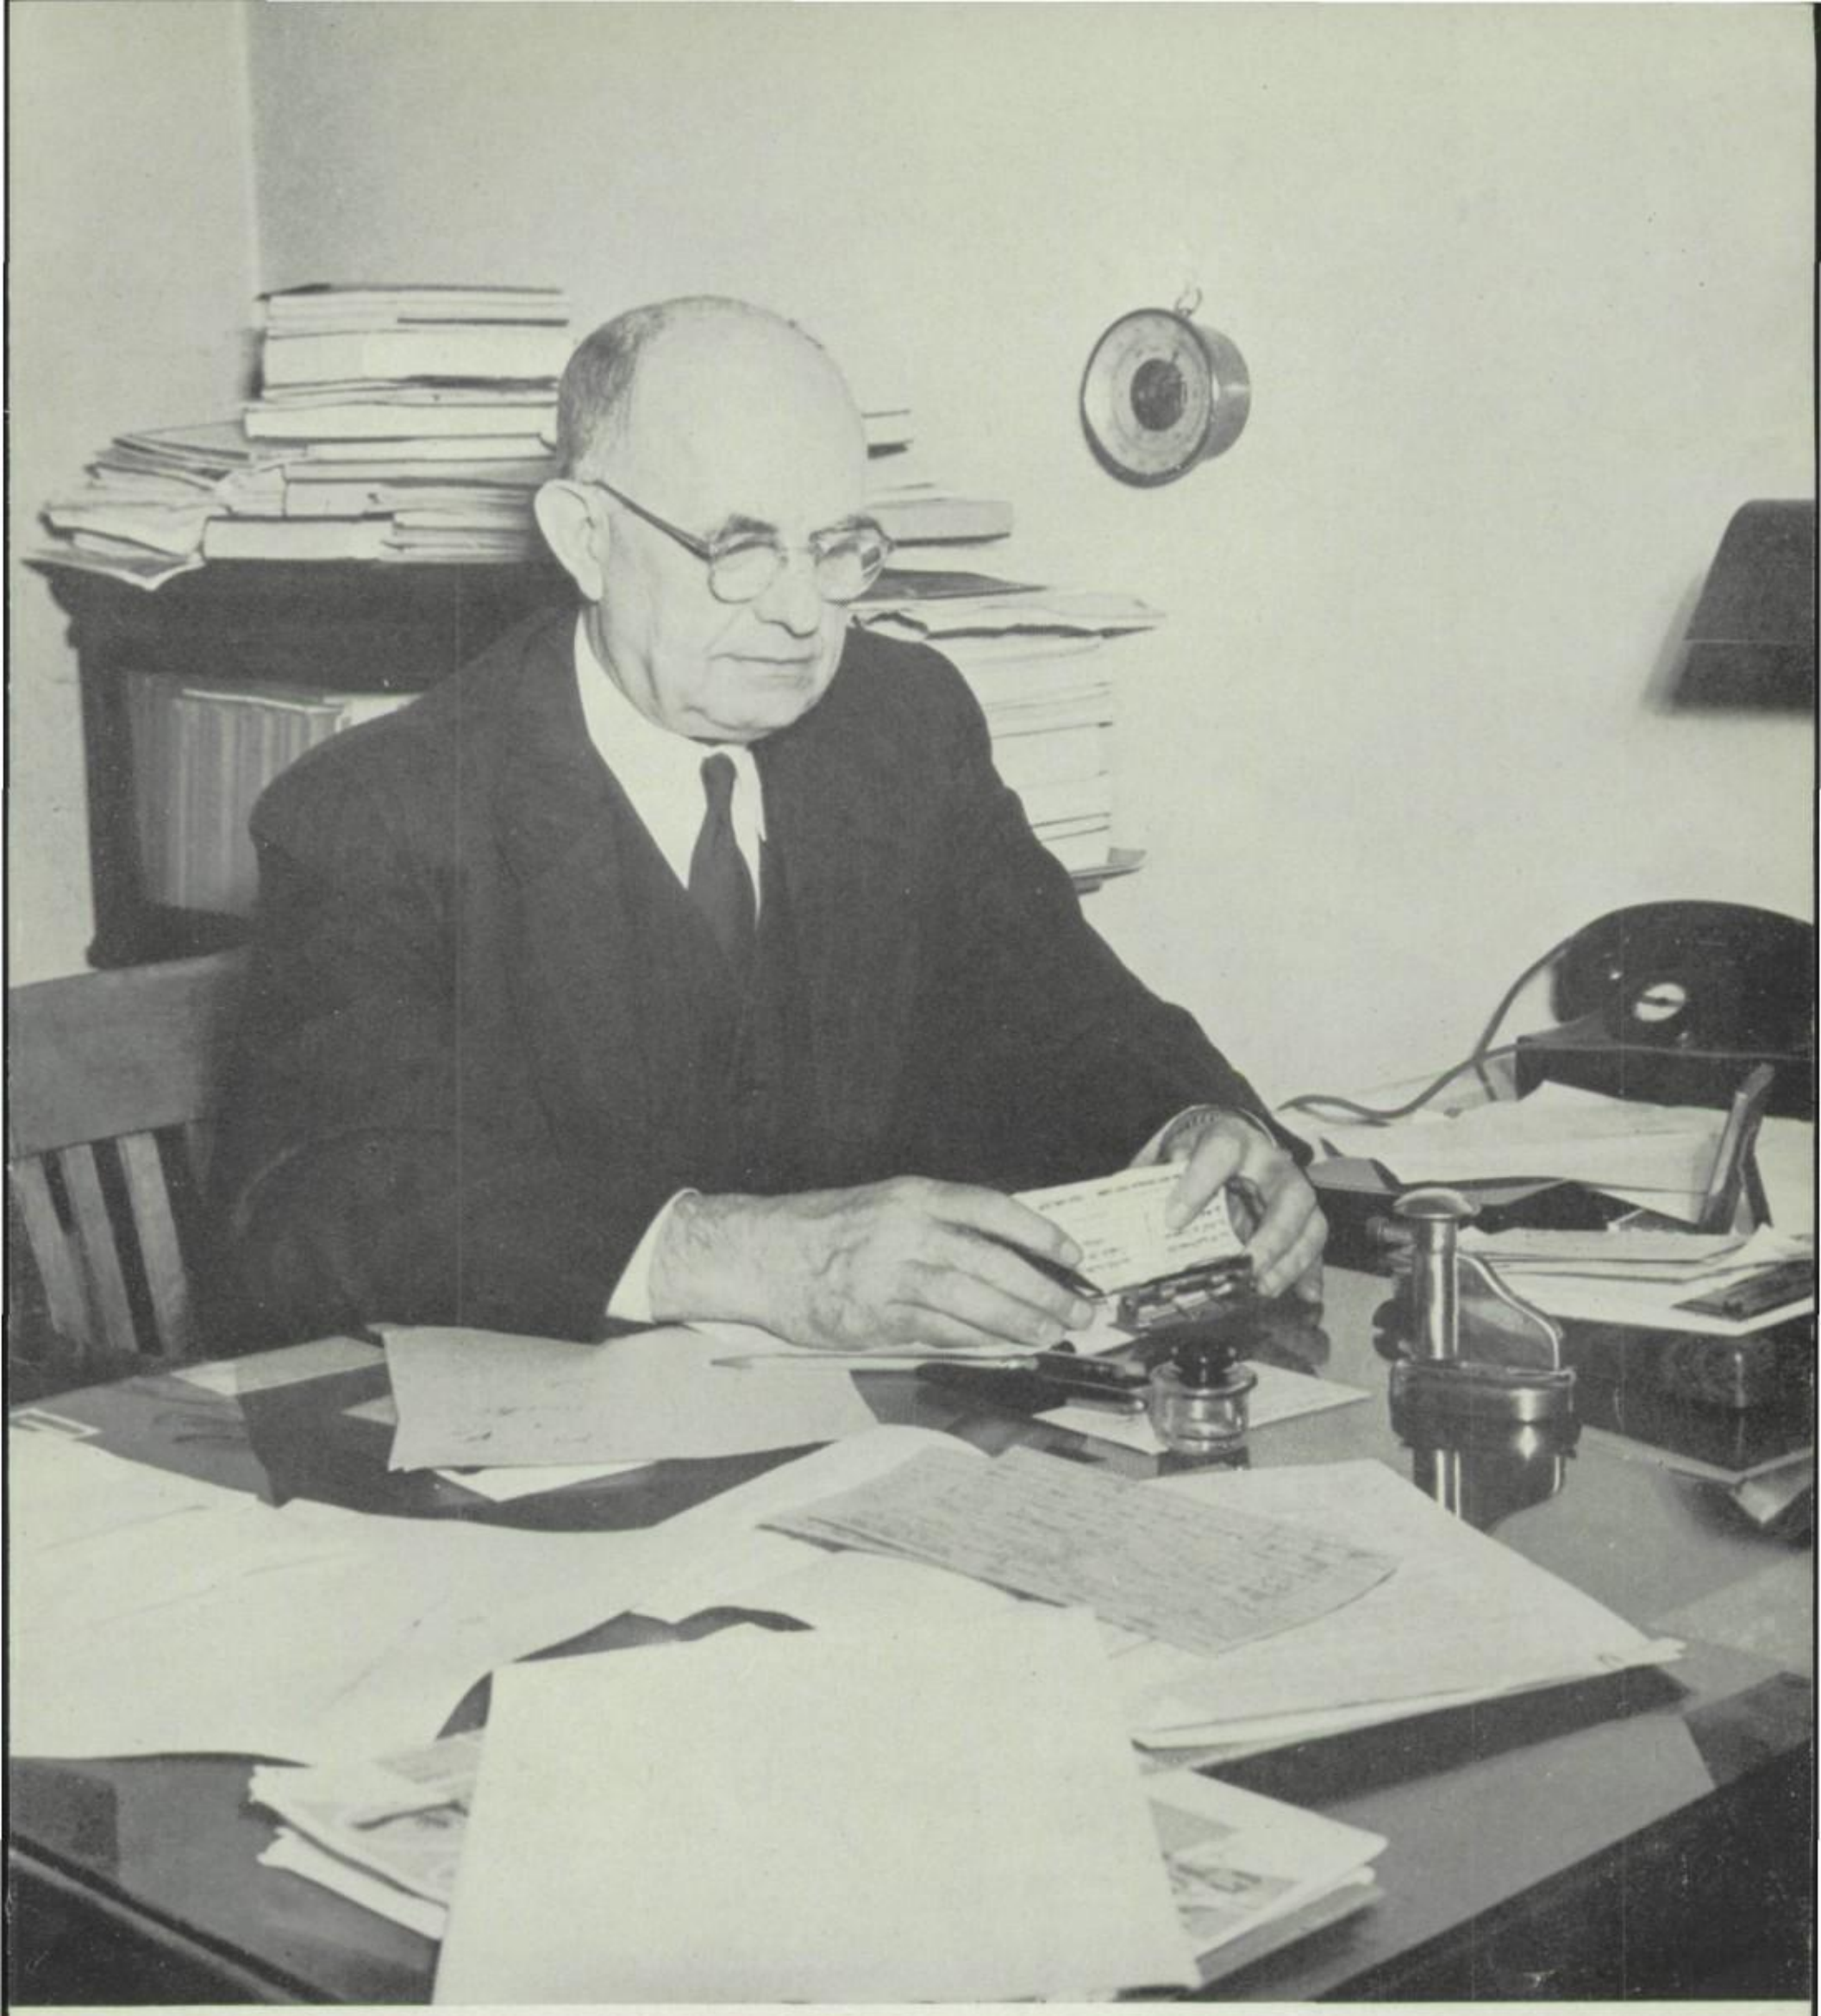
Our Story

Time marches on as the hands of the clock move forward. From the beginning of our Senior year till graduation, our time was filled with all sorts of activities. Everyone's rushing around getting name cards, sending announcements, and finally the excitement of the tug-of-war are some of the things that made this year excitingly different.

The clock is like a diary holding all the memories that we have collected during our time in high school. This year book which we, the Seniors of the half century, present to you illustrates the clock, and the pages of the book illustrate the times we have had during our years at Somerset High School.

- People we knew.
- Things we did
- Sports we enjoyed





It is with pride and gratitude that we dedicate the 1950 Eaglet to William E. Griffith, our retiring principal.

Mr. Griffith who taught at Somerset High School for six years and for twenty-two years has served us in the role of principal, brings to a close his successful career in education.

During his administration he has proven himself an able administrator, a sympathetic counselor, an untiring promoter of athletics, and, above all, a friend.

our particular problems. Anytime a student needs some help he may go to the office and be sure of the best solution. Our extra-curricular activities and everyday schedules are aptly planned by these men. Because of their understanding advice and helpfulness, which has been so much a part of our school life, we feel that we are fitted to take our place in society.

This is the year nineteen hundred and fifty—a memorable year because we are graduating. To those of us who will be going from school to a job this year represents the end of an era. To those of us who are going to college it seems a big step in our chosen direction. Now suppose we turn the clock back four years and do a little reminiscing. Remember when . . .

We were freshmen wandering through the unfamiliar halls of Somerset High School, tip-toeing timorously past the office, gaping at lofty seniors. Everything was new and strange. How embarrassed we were when we floundered into the wrong room and were met by snickers and wisecracks. We began to know our classmates better after the Freshman Halloween Party, planned and executed under the direction of Jack Gilmour, our new president. Our freshmen year passed quickly and the idea that we must "work hard so me old man'll be proud a me" passed quickly too.

Our Sophomore year dawned brightly. We got into the swing of things by selling at a football concession to earn money for the Sophomore-Senior Dance. Our dance was held in February, on St. Valentines Day. The gym was gayly decorated by hearts — big hearts, little hearts, fat hearts, thin hearts, happy hearts, and sad hearts. Under the leadership of a new president, Doran Walker, the dance was a great success. This was a difficult year, especially in English. Most of our difficulties were due to the fact that we had the idea: "Why bother to study; look at the fun we can have."

Then came our Junior year. We were on the last lap of our struggle. Our competent president, Doran Walker, was re-elected. We met new teachers, new personalities, and most of us were introduced formally to the office. We were beginning to work together. Our class was becoming a unit. Due to this cooperation the Junior Prom, called "Some Enchanted Evening," pulled thru remarkably. The Seniors of '49 neglected to return the compliment when we pulled them through the mud. Thus dragged out our junior year, and we were confident of our grades for we knew that, "They never check the papers."

OUR TIME IS HERE

At last! our Senior year! The end was at hand. After a mild political battle, Doran Walker again reigned as president. It seems he was trying to beat F. D. R.'s record. In chemistry class we met many new elements and found ourselves completely out of ours. Seniors pictures arrived! The prevailing sentiments were, "Yours are wonderful! Mine are awful." We gave a star dusted performance called "Beauty and the Beef" for our Senior Class Play. Needless to say it was huge success! Our thanks to the tireless efforts of Mrs. Cindric and Miss Mostoller! Our football season was spectacular, our play was spectacular, our basketball was spectacular . . . our Class was spectacular! Commencement came at last and with it, joy mingled with tears. Many of us spent our last hours with our beloved teachers, pleading, "You can't fail me! I'm a Senior."

Practice makes perfect.

Oh, you're breaking my back!

You are now listening to Station—

Sponsor ..... MISS BUTLER

The class of '51, under the sponsorship of Miss Butler, continued to be active and prosperous during their junior year.

Way back when they were Freshmen, they had the annual Frosh Halloween Party, and thus started their fun-packed high school days together.

As biology students in their Sophomore year, they journeyed to Pittsburgh, and for weeks talked of the things they had seen and done. Spring came and the annual Soph-Senior dance was held, and all agreed the "Fiesta" was a huge success.

Now as juniors, they took an even more active interest in school activities. They sported varsity football players; included in these were such stand-outs as John Darrigo and Bob Rosbaugh who gave the Eagles much of its back-field scoring punch. Ralph Friedhofer, Tom Wright, and Bob Rosbaugh, among others, helped give us exciting, hard-fought basketball games. Also we had three varsity cheerleaders and drum majorettes coming from this class, which took an active interest in the band, clubs, assembly and choruses. In the spring they gave the seniors a wonderful night of pleasing memories when they held the beautiful last big dance of the well filled year—the Junior Prom.

With all the active interest this class has shown, they have kept up a high scholastic rating, and we're certain that S. H. S. has profited from their experience as well as the students.

But the coach said nine.

Sponsor..... MR. CINDRIC

Sponsored by Mr. Cindric, this class of able bodied students have already made their mark in the history books of S. H. S. They placed four boys on the varsity football line-up, two of them being on the first string, one boy on the basketball team, and two girls on the varsity cheerleading squad.

Last year, they did not figure prominently in the whirl of social functions, isolating their class at the annual Freshman Halloween Party.

Divided into committees, with home-room teachers for advisors, they honored the Senior Class this year with their Soph-Senior Dance, "Neptune's Garden," which was a huge success.

They are anticipating many happy days at S. H. S. and with the effort and determination we have seen them put forth we believe they will achieve these expectations.

The Freshmen, with the usual vigor and zest of "Greenies" scurried into our school this year. Some of them were here before in the seventh and eighth grades. They soon became accustomed to the rules of our school.

They added new members to our orchestra, band, and vocal groups. They are preparing to put heroes on our football field and on our basketball floor in future years.

Their most celebrated event was the annual Halloween Party which was a great success. Of course, those Freshmen were always at the football and basketball games cheering their school teams on to victory.

The peppy, energetic seventh graders make-up the class of 1955. Although it may take them some time to adjust themselves, they rapidly became part of the life in the school. They all have done their part in keeping the school spirit up, and promise to make a real basketball and football team in a few years. They did their share in entertainment when they were represented in a great talent show in an assembly program. Although their school life has just begun, they have left an everlasting impression in the hearts of many.

The Student Council, one of Somerset High's most active and important clubs, is the student governing organization. Its members are elected and represent all the homerooms in the Junior and Senior High.

At the beginning of the year, freshmen received "S" books explaining the school, and soon became accustomed to the monitor system. Members proved themselves capable ushers at parents' night.

New records were bought for the juke box in the gym, tickets were sold for the games, and dances were sponsored after the games under the Council's supervision. Christmas was recognized not only by the brightly decorated tree, but by the informal dance, "Midwinter Night's Dream", after which all reported a fine time.

The three day state convention in October at Coatsville found delegates from Somerset, as did the western convention at Oliver High School in Pittsburgh in the Spring.

They are rated on scholarship, leadership, character, and service. The duty of these members is to give of their ability in helping others. Chapter 888 of Somerset High School was established in 1930 and is now sponsored by Miss Long and Miss Snyder.

LIBRARY CLUB

The library club has 18 members within its folds. They have had a busy year repairing books, fixing bulletin boards, processing new books, keeping the book shelves in order, and cleaning the library. Some of the members act as student assistant librarians and help in the library during study periods. But is is not all work and no play. During the year they attended quite a few parties, the most memorable ones being their Halloween and Skating Parties.

TRI-HI-Y

The Tri-Hi-Y Club, because of its varied and helpful functions, is one of the most active in the school. It is aptly sponsored by Miss Bessie Long. Under her sponsorship and the supervision of the president, Alice Weimer, they undertake many activities. Among these are the Tuesday night teas that are held in the social room of the school, where the members of the Tri-Hi-Y club offer the teachers some refreshments. The origination of the Junior Red Cross Club was another blue ribbon activity for the club. This year two members were selected to go to Harrisburg to represent S. H. S. at the United Nations Convention for young people Upon their return they reported all the happenings at Harrisburg to their fellow club members.

PLASTICS CLUB

The Plastics Club, under the direction of Mr. Revello, spend their Thursday, third period working diligently to devise new things made of plastic. Many of the articles turned out from their club have obtained recognition in our school. Several persons are to be seen wearing Indian Head rings or bracelets fashioned from Indian designs. Some homes are decorated with bowls or statuettes made from designs copied from the originals. Formerly the plastics club had only male members, but in recent years members of the fairer sex have certainly done their bit toward gaining the recognition they have received.

FUTURE HOMEMAKERS OF AMERICA

The purpose of this club is to promote a growing appreciation of the joys and satisfaction of homemaking. They emphasize the importance of worthy home membership and encourage democracy in home and community life. Through the club the interest in home economics has increased. Members take trips to farm shows and the club state conventions. They make projects for needy causes and also projects to make money. They have programs based on various phases of homemaking and social affairs at which the members get together and have a good time.

FUTURE FARMERS OF AMERICA

hours of practice promise future dividends

Somerset's F.F.A. chapter, whose two requirements are to be a boy and to be studying vocational agriculture, is affiliated with the county, state, and national chapters.

The fundamentals taught are—supervised farming, co-operation, community service, leadership, scholarship, thrift, and recreation.

Many and varied are the activities in which the boys participated. They attended fairs and livestock shows in Kansas City and Pittsburgh. Not only did they perform jobs for farmers, but they bought and sold co-operatively.

There are a possible four degrees to be conferred on the boys. The new members are commonly called Green Hands. After participating one year, the boys then become chapter farmers. When the boys are seniors they can get the state degree and are commonly called Keystone Farmers. Finally, it is possible three years after graduation to become an American Farmer.

Throughout the year they participated in many activities, including the Halloween party, square dance, basketball league, and the highlight of the year, the traditional Father and Son banquet.

CHEERLEADERS

"Come on kids, smile." "Pep it up!" Yes, the cheerleaders have their troubles too. Every Thursday after school these are some of the remarks which find their way through the gym. During football season these gals had the gym all to themselves, but, alas, when basketball season rolled around they all had to move to one small corner of the gym. The reason for this was that the team seemed to be all over the place and, of course, the lasses didn't want to get hit on the head with a basketball.

S. H. S. has three strings of cheerleaders to cheer the teams on to victory. The varsity has six cheerleaders who cheer for the football and varsity basketball games both home and away. The Junior Varsity Cheerleaders cheer for the J. V. basketball games. These are the girls who are moved up to the varsity spuad when someone graduates. Last but not least come the third string cheerleaders. These girls don't get to cheerlead very much but they keep in shape because they are the ones who are moved up to the J. V. string when there is a vacancy.

All these girls practice to keep in perfect form so people will say that S. H. S. has top-notch cheerleaders. We think our cheerleading spuad is one of the best. This has been made possible only with the untiring efforts of the girls in practice and at the games.

SENIOR DRAMATICS

Lights! Action! The Senior Dramatics Club consisting of twenty-seven members hustles around rolling off a big production. One production for this year was a Thanksgiving play. All members enjoy some specialized work in acting, make-up, stage construction, or lighting. But it isn't all work and no play, for the Dramatics Club has outside parties which are fun for members and guests. A traditional ceremony, enjoyed by all is the annual initiations to help new members feel more at home.

JUNIOR DRAMATICS

This dramatics club is made up of the younger students sponsored by Miss Kalp. They put on one play in assembly this year called "Elmer and the Love Bug." The play centers around Elmer, a second Henry Aldrich. The plot: While Elmer and his mother are away Elmer's two sisters decide to have a dinner party. They are delighted that Elmer is not around to upset the works, but not for long. Elmer comes home from camp. Things begin to pop, and when Elmer falls in love the audience is furnished with plenty of laughter. These active thespians learned many basic fundamentals which will be valuable to them in future dramatic efforts.

JUNIOR HIGH DRAMATICS CLUB

Want to see some talented youngsters? Just watch the seventh and eighth graders of the Jr. High Dramatics Club. Their activities were centered around two assembly programs this year. The special highlight was the presentation of the Halloween Opree, "I Never See Maggie Alone." Their biggest social activity was the Christmas party for Club members and guests with Santa Claus and presents for all.

KNITTING CLUB

Composed of seventh and ninth grade girls, this industrious club has a large membership. The four basic stitches are taught, and each Thursday finds the girls busily practicing. They learn how to knit so they can use their leisure time pleasantly and profitably. In the future, they shall be able to make many attractive and useful garments.

JUNIOR HISTORIANS

This club of sixteen members is one of our most active for its size. Not only does it study history, but tries to make our community more aware of historical events such as United Nations week. Junior Historians started for the annual district and state conventions at Indiana and Harrisburg respectively, flying their colors of pink and rust (pink for the laurel and rust for the ruffled grouse.) These are important events in the life of all Junior Historians. Outside monthly meetings are held in the form of various parties. These are rated tops by members and guests alike. Their Motto:

"Today's Historians:
Tomorrow's Citizens"

COMBINED ARTS

This club, under the apt direction of Miss Hahn, offers much to students interested in not only stage arts but almost anything in the artistic field. The girls have made puppets, done work in pastels and other things that are too complicated for classroom study. At the coming of Spring they all enjoyed an Art Outing, to which they had looked forward all winter.

This organization has been this year in many activities. The cars have been nicely ushered into place at the football games. This was done by the Student Patrol. These boys have patroled the street crossing in the evening and at noon and kept order on the buses. They have also been alert to anything that might be a fire hazard to the school. Mr. Rininger is the skillful leader of this group.

RIFLE CLUB

Under the instruction of Mr. Trexel those sharpshooters of S. H. S. really hit the mark. Two teams were entered against the best of other schools in the nation in the N. R. A. Postal match. November, December, January, and February were the months, in which the boys held competitive matches among themselves. Mr. Trexel endeavors to teach all boys who enter the club the manner of handling firearms.

LANTERN SLIDE CLUB

A peppy bunch of seventh and eighth graders gather in room 206 every club period. This is the Lantern Slide Club which is very enthusiastic in learning the crafts of glass. They draw and make lantern slides. Once a month they show these on a slide projector. They enjoyed several social affairs during this year.

PHOTOPLAY CLUB

The Photoplay Club is responsible for the many and varied movies we see each year. Between the tasks of selecting the movies and operating the machines, the members are really kept on their toes. The photoplay members learn, under the direction of Jacob Frysinger, how to operate all the different kinds of movie and slide machines the school owns. When an occasion arises rarely that they have nothing on the agenda, they have a movie shown to them during club period.

ARCHERY CLUB

Twang! These Future William Tells of S. H. S. meet every Thursday to bend the bows and hit the bulls-eye on the out-door range, weather permitting. During the winter the members learned the fundamentals of this great sport. Mr. Rodgers started the club and thus far has played the role of instructor. He attributes his skill with the bow to the fact that for two years he lived among the Indians of North Dakota as an Indian trader.

CAMERA CLUB

If you have seen students trying to take pictures of activities or other subjects you will know they are from the Camera Club. This organization has during the year planned trips in an attempt to learn more about photography. Its main function is to teach pupils the art of handling the camera and all the other techniques of photography. It is under the direction of Mr. Sayler.

HUNTING AND FISHING

This club has a very good purpose. It is to teach the students the techniques of fishing and hunting.

Some of the activities of the organization during the period of school are: the different types of casting, tying and splicing lines and flys, how to care for the fishing rod, and keep it in good condition. They take many field excursions during this period, and show pictures on the right techniques of fishing and hunting.

The requirements of this club are that you must pass all your subjects and furnish all your own equipment. There are thirty five members in this club and they are all Juniors and Seniors. Mr. Stiffler is the sponsor of the club.

HOUSEHOLD MECHANICS

Under the skilled direction of Mr. Flick, the girls of S. H. S. learned to work with metals. This club learns how to cut tin, how to weld, and other interesting things. They make such things as sugar scoops and cookie cutters. Even though it's a small club, you'll discover that all the girls like it and find it interesting.

PING PONG CLUB

The club is made up of boys, most of whom are from the Junior High. These boys are interested in ping pong and here they learn the fundamentals of the game. They are taught correct serves, wicked slams, and cunning returns. Near the end of the year the club sponsors a few tournaments in which both students and teachers participate. Mr. Pfrogner sponsors the club.

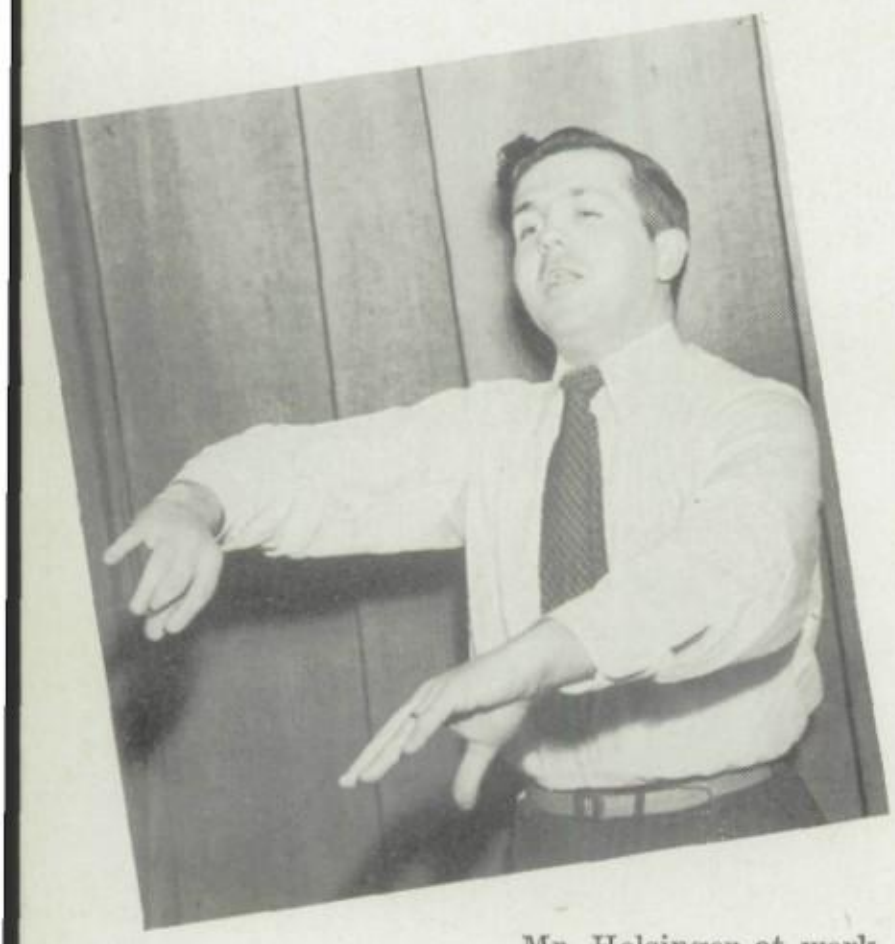
VOCAL MUSIC

Timing is the key to perfection



Mr. Holsinger at work.

The vocal music of Somerset High has been under the direction of Mr. Holsinger and Mr. Singer. Both teachers have been very successful in the past year. The Mixed Chorus and Girls Chorus are under the direction of Mr. Holsinger and the Boys Chorus is under Mr. Singer. The Girls and Mixed Chorus performed in the assembly programs at Thanksgiving and Christmas. There was a formal concert in the late spring composed of the Mixed Chorus and the All-County Band.

The Mixed Chorus is composed of 135 voices. They have worked very hard, along with the director and have had sectional and early morning classes. The officers are: President, James Saylor; Vice President, Virginia Thomas; Secretary-Treasurer, Alice Weimer; Librarians, Paul Welsh and Audry Longridge; Pianist, Alice Jean Hoffman.

Fifty four girls' voices blend together to make up the Girls Chorus. Officers are: President, Sandra Hare;

ORCHESTRA measure for measure

Every Monday and Thursday morning the orchestra practices to arrive at the peak of perfection. This year our orchestra has increased to forty-five members. The majority of this organization are underclassmen. The instrumentation of this group consists mainly of strings. There are fourteen violins, one piano, four cornets, five clarinets, three flutes, one bassoon, two oboes, two saxophones, three trombones, and two percussions. Mr. Singer, the director, has done wonders with his organization, and we know he will continue his good work in the future.

every one in step

Our excellent high school band this year consists of ninety-five pieces. The majority of the organization is made up of underclassmen which will form the backbone of the group in the years to come. This year the band made a good showing for our school. It put in an appearance at all the football games, cheering our team on to victory. Under the direction of Chester Singer our band has proven time and again that they have the right to be ranked among the top bands of our district. We sent thirteen members to the Central-Western Music Festival, of which one member, Alice Weimer, represented us at State Band. If Mr. Singer continues in his excellent work with our instrumental organizations, we have much good music to anticipate for the future.

THE EAGLET

But - But I couldn't get it done.

Mine's ready to hand in.

The hand behind the Art.

With Editor-in-Chief Doran Walker, Business Manager Fay Beeghley, and advisors Mrs. Cindric and Mrs. Jock at the helm, the Business and Literary Staffs of the 1950 Eaglet have endeavored to produce a verbal and pictorial record of Somerset High School life.

The twenty-two members of the Literary Staff worked hard to achieve apt expressions for seniors, teachers, as well as the clubs, classes, and social activities at S. H. S. Arranging and identifying the pictures completes the job for the Literary Staff.

Backed by the Business Staff, the Seniors made their rounds of the town, knocking on each door with the question, "Would you like to subscribe for a magazine?" Financing the cost of the yearbook was quite a job but left to the hands of the Business Staff it was handled quite well.

The endless clackety-clack of the typewriters of the Typing Staff could be heard as they tirelessly typed and retyped the volumes of material used in the book.

When you notice the snappy etchings and drawings on these pages, think of the Art Staff and the grand job they have done.

The close cooperation of these four staffs has enabled the Senior Class of 1950 to proudly present for your enjoyment the 1950 Eaglet.

BEAUTY and the BEEF

I never had a cup that meant so much to me.

Molly, your father can't take the drum, now.

What are you going to do, Professor?

Bubbles, speak to me!

Since our daughter began poisoning everyone——.

Laura, everything is working out so perfectly.

Some party!

Oh, Ginny, it's beautiful!

But Ginny, please let me explain—

Foggy, I just love that hat.

Hm-m-m, a C. And who is the lucky student?

• • • Curtain Time

Since Ann and Doran have arrived for our 6:30 practice, we can now begin at 7:15. "Okay kids, let's go! . . . Saylor get off the drums . . . Saylor! . . . Act one, let's go! . . . With the wastebasket for the telephone stand and the piano bench for the coach, practice finally begins with a hearty "Mother, oh Mother!" from Ginny.

Winnebagushi, the new home of George, Laura Ginny, and Lester, the Allen family, turns from a peaceful mid-western town to an escapade of scheming, poisoning, and cribbing. Trying to live down her years on the "Junior Quiz Program." Ginny Allen attempts to convince "Beef," the football captain, that American history is her downfall. With the discovery of the quart jar (excuse us, properties!) the loving cup, Beef realizes Ginny is a brain.

Molly, owner of the bass drum, finally succumbs to Lester's wiles and teaches him to play the drum, much to the disapproval of Molly's father, Mr. Woods. Adding to the confusion of things Foggy, Beef's best friend, is carried away by the flirtatious glances of Barbara. Realizing this, Franny, Ginny's side-kick, attempts to retain Foggy's attention and finally succeeds. These plus the epicac and the football team are linked together in one hilarious comedy: "Beauty and the Beef."

Block that man!

Watch out! Coming through!

The lid-lifter for the pigskin warriors of S. H. S. was Adams Twp. Though Somerset out gained and outplayed them, we were on the short end of a 19-12 score. Still hoping to snap a 7 game losing streak, we bucked the Bedford Bisons. Once more the breaks were for the opponents, and we lost another heartbreaker. Since everyone was expecting a poor season, we took the Allegheny defeat in stride. Now more determined than ever, the Eagles took on the Huntingdon Bearcats. To some the score came as a surprise, but to those of us who followed their improvement and determination to win; it was not. At last the Eagles were making their bid for a comeback. They strengthened the bid even more when they downed the Richland Rams 34-7. John Miller, Bob Rosbaugh, and the Sally Rand beat Scottdale 13-12. Next in line for the improved Eagles were the Boswell Bears. Somerset walked away with another win 26-0. Westmont snapped our three game winning streak with a 13-13 tie. Next the Eagles withered the entire Lilly team by a score of 32-13. The game was played in a rather heavy snowfall. Somerset, making its bid for the best season in three years, met the Conemaugh Twp. Indians. The Indians passed, kicked and ran their way to a 41-20 victory over the Eagles. The past season has set a very high example of spirit and the ability to come back after a few heartbreaking setbacks. This in itself is the first and principal characteristic of a group of boys that make a great team.

The Eagles scored twenty-nine touchdowns and outgained every opponent except the Conemaugh Twp. Indians.

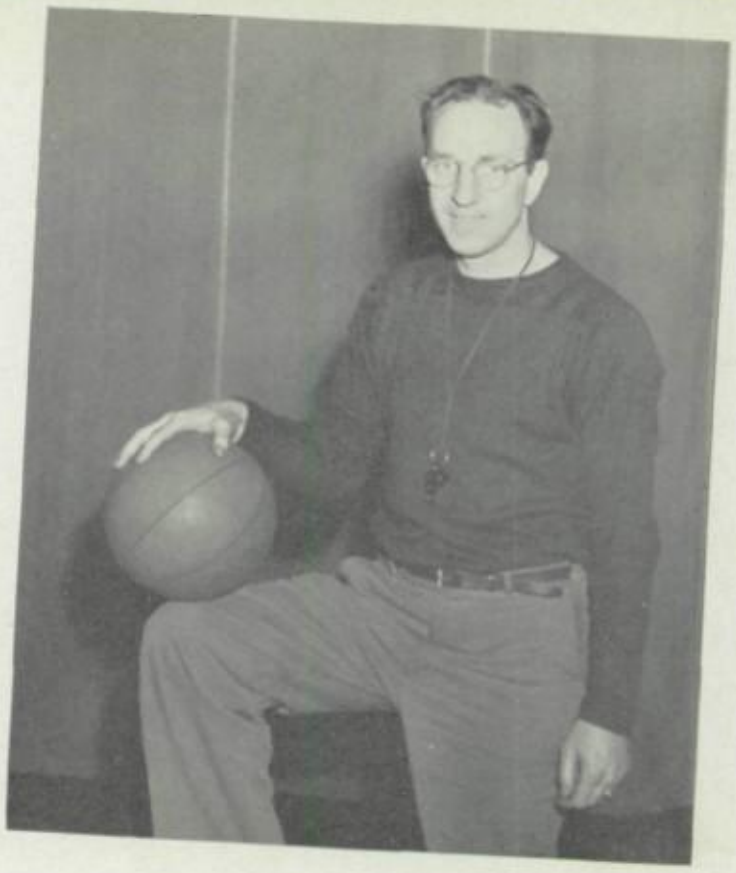
JUNIOR HIGH FOOTBALL

• • • future Eagles

The purpose of the Junior High School football squad is to teach fundamentals of football to the young boys. They are taught how to tackle properly, how to block, pass, kick, pull out of the line, and various offensive and defensive tactics. There were about fifty boys from the seventh, eighth, and ninth grades who reported for squad and approximately thirty-five of these reported very regularly. Three games were played, two with Bedford and one with Conemaugh Twp. We lost all three. The boys who showed promise were John Williams, Harry Sandusky, Eddie Romesburg, William Marsh in backfield and Robert Blank, Charles Doherty, Ronald Schrock, Dean Griffith, John Leventry, William Dickey on the line.

BASKETBALL

team of the year



Mr. Yule

As the season started this year, we appeared to be in a rut, but with the sharp coaching of David Yule, we soon began to climb. Sparked by the fast scoring of Tom Wright, Ron Bowman, and Jim Saylor, we were once more among the top clubs of the area. As the season progressed, we improved, always aided by Bob Rosbaugh, Ralph Friedhofer, and Douglas Kerin. Of course, we lost a few games, but they were not lost in vain. Our defeats taught the boys of our team to take victory or loss with the same spirit of fair play.

Basket!

I've got it.

With the bleachers full, the fans of Somerset saw Ron make a shot that made the stands rock. With a one-handed shot from the middle of the floor, he made a basket to win the Allegany game 30-28. Our next thriller was the Berlin game. Douglas Kerin and Tom Wright kept us in the game, and we were able to edge out Berlin 44-33. This year's team is made up of two Seniors, Ron Bowman and Jim Saylor, three Juniors, Tom Wright, Ralph Friedhofer and Bob Rosbaugh, and one Sophomore, Douglas Kerin. With four veterans returning to the team next year, our prospects are good for the future.

The combination of Coach David Yule and Carl Waugaman, our Junior Varsity coach, is a hard one to top, and laurels go to them for a good job well done.

Near the close of the season, Ralph Friedhofer was injured, and Bob Coddington and Jim Saylor saw a good bit of action. They upheld the same fighting spirit that had been a spark to the team. Among the boys who held the team together under the bankboard were Bob Rosbaugh and Ralph Friedhofer. They were able to outjump most of their opponents, and a rebound from the basket area was safe in their hands.

We students say to the 1950 Basketball Team: Thank you for a good season, and good luck to those who will be back again next year.

TRACK

Present-day Mercuries

This club is a must for boys who are coming to S. H. S. There is plenty of foot work in the team and they show plenty of fast action. In this sport many a game is played, among which are jumping the high board, hurling discus, throwing the javelin, and shot-put throwing. This year more than ever the fellows that are out for track have plenty of vim and vigor. Some members of the club went to Penn State last year. Bob Rosbaugh, who is our up and coming sprint man, John Darrigo, our hurdler, and Frank Layman, the guy who runs the mile, are the stars. Mr. Stiffler is the leader of this team.

S CLUB

Time has earned them their "S"

The purpose of the "S" Club is to arouse interest in sports so that more fellows will turn out for the team, and to create good sportsmanship. They show movies and discuss the pros and cons of football to help familiarize the underclassmen with the rules and tactics of the game. Although football is discussed chiefly, the "S" Club is for the further promotion of all sports.

The purpose of the Boys' Gym Club is to teach members the rules of these activities so that they can help in the officiating of the intramural program.

The membership of the club is composed mostly of out-of-town students. We feel that the students need more of this type of activities because most of these boys have had very little. Mr. Yule is the instructor of this fine organization.

APPRECIATION

We of the 1950 EAGLET staff wish to thank our many friends for their cooperation in compiling this book. We particularly wish to express our appreciation to our professional and commercial patrons, Mr. F. A. Gradler of the Gradler Studios, Mr. Lee Murphy of the King-Murphy Press and to Mr. Donald Young of the Pontiac Engraving Company. All these people shared in the responsibility of making the 1950 EAGLET a reality.

To the administration, to the faculty and to the students who have unselfishly cooperated with us, we also say, "Thank you."
